

1. In the run up to the European Elections held in June 2008, analysts were cautioning their listeners that the results that they were discussing “came with a margin of error of four and a half percent”. What sample size were they considering?

Solution

$$1.96 * 2 * .25 / (.045 * 2) = 474.2716: 500 \text{ approx}$$